Acrylic, as a new type of high-end material, has demonstrated extensive application value in multiple fields. Its unique high-quality characteristics and high transparency aesthetic appeal are particularly prominent, capable of presenting the features of various products in a simple and elegant manner.

The light transmittance of acrylic material is as high as 95%, featuring crystal clarity and strong luster. The light box made of acrylic not only has excellent light transmission performance, but also features pure and rich colors, a beautiful and smooth appearance, and can achieve a display effect both day and night.

Our products have the following advantages:

1. High quality and highly competitive prices;
2. Efficient production cycle and timely delivery time;
3. Provide high-quality customer service.

Magnetic acrylic photo frames are suitable for photo display and printed matter display. With their excellent functionality and beautiful design, they are deeply favored by customers. At present, the types of magnetic acrylic photo frames we offer include single-sided inclined, double-sided inclined and double-sided flat designs.
